ABOUT ME

Gary Bennett is an audiobook narrator with a diverse background. Although relatively new to the industry, he has always loved reading and telling stories, making connections to the characters and helping to bring those characters to life.

Born in California and raised in Montana, Gary now calls the greater Seattle area home with his wife, two children and three dogs. With a degree in Electrical Engineering and Business Management, Gary was an engineer and business owner in a previous life and still has a passion for all things technical. When not reading or narrating books, he often finds himself either practicing his mad guitar skills, playing in the great outdoors by hiking, skiing and snowboarding, or in the air as a private pilot.
